CIPEG Annual Meeting

Kyoto, 2 – 7 September 2019

“THE FUTURE OF TRADITIONS: PAVING THE WAY FOR EGYPTIAN COLLECTIONS TOMORROW”

Every three years the International Museums’ community meets at the ICOM General Conference to discuss cultural issues and museum related questions on a large scale. The official topic for the 25th ICOM General Conference in Kyoto is “Museums as Cultural Hubs: the Future of Tradition”. CIPEG is glad to participate in this important international discussion forum and embraces the opportunity to meet museum professionals of different fields on this occasion.

As part of the ICOM General Conference CIPEG will have its Annual Meeting 2 – 7 September 2019 and herewith invites papers related to the theme “The future of traditions: Paving the way for Egyptian collections tomorrow”. As is the CIPEG tradition, papers related to general museum work are also welcome.

During its Annual Meeting, CIPEG will take the opportunity to visit institutions related to the field of Egyptology in Kyoto and its environs. We very much look forward to exploring the Egyptological Landscape of Japan and meeting our colleagues at:

- The Egyptian Collection of the Kyoto University Museum
- the MIHO MUSEUM, Shiga Prefecture

CIPEG will further have a Joint Meeting Day with COMCOL (ICOM International Committee for Collecting) and we embrace the opportunity for fruitful discussions and exchange of ideas with our colleagues from this International ICOM committee for collecting. During this session we will focus on collection strategy in times of illicit traffic and problematic provenances as well as working with communities. We will send out more information for this joint meeting day separately.
